Office workers lose four weeks a year on slow tech

Introduction: Technology is supposed to make us more productive, and information easier to manage. However, in the real world, out-of-date technology and technology that is hard to use often slows people down, resulting in lost opportunities, profits and even employees. As the summer holiday season comes to an end, Sharp announces research which shows the average UK office worker might lose more time to tech than they spend on holiday

PEOPLE WAIT 10 MINUTES PER DAY FOR PAGES TO PRINT

SEARCHING FOR FILES ON A SERVER COSTS 23 MINUTES PER DAY

BETTER TECHNOLOGY WOULD MAKE 64% PEOPLE MORE PRODUCTIVE

BETTER TECHNOLOGY WOULD STOP 19% WORKERS FROM JOB HUNTING

PEOPLE WAIT 7 MINUTES A DAY FOR THE PRINTER TO WARM UP

THIS EQUALS 40 MINUTES PER DAY, OR 167 HOURS A YEAR

77% OF PEOPLE THINK THEIR OFFICE NEEDS UP TO DATE TECHNOLOGY

WORKERS WOULD SAVE 21 DAYS PER YEAR WITH UP TO DATE TECHNOLOGY
